

The ARRA is worth $787 billion. Let us help you get your share.

Cooper B-Line offers many products that comply with the Buy American requirements of ARRA-funded government construction projects.

Much of our government's building infrastructure is about to be rebuilt with funds from the ARRA. When the material for these projects needs to be made domestically, look to Cooper B-Line. Many of our support system and enclosure product families are manufactured in the United States by a skilled, unionized workforce, which helps us comply with the Buy American requirements for these types of projects.
